

A collection of various geometric shapes and patterns arranged in a grid-like fashion. The shapes include circles of different sizes, some solid black, some white with black outlines, and some with internal patterns. There are also squares, some solid black, some white with black outlines, and some with internal patterns. The patterns include a series of small circles, a series of small squares, and a series of small triangles. The shapes are arranged in a way that suggests a sequence or a progression, with some shapes appearing to be part of a larger, more complex pattern.